

TECHNOVATION

Student Ambassador

Abigail Chan

Thank you for serving as a Student Ambassador for the Technovation Girls 2025/2026 season.

You recruited builders into the program, guided teams through finding a problem worth solving, and supported them as they built applications and AI tools to address it. That is leadership work, and you did it all while keeping up with your own studies.

The skills you developed this season, communication, team leadership, community organizing, are the same skills that will serve you well in life and on your resume! You have a 24-hour contribution to the UN Sustainable Development Goals on the record, and a community that watched you lead.

Regardless of whether your teams submitted, the work you put in was impressive. So is what you learned doing it.

We are honored to be part of your journey, and we hope this is just the beginning.

Tara Chklovski, Technovation Founder & CEO

Building innovators for life

TECHNOVATION

Student Ambassador

CERTIFICATE OF RECOGNITION

IS AWARDED TO

Abigail Chan

for successfully completing the 2025–2026 season as a Technovation Student Ambassador, recruiting and supporting participants, and representing Technovation in her community.

Building innovators for life

Tara Chklovski, Technovation Founder & CEO